Great Lakes Strike of ARTA Is Winning

Some information on the Great Lakes Strike of ARTA has been released. According to the report, the strike has been ongoing for two weeks and has involved nearly 500 seamen. The seamen are demanding better working conditions and higher wages. The union is stating that the company is trying to break the strike by offering lower wages and poorer working conditions. The strike is expected to continue for several more days.

Petition of Captain To Secure Steam Scooner Crew Turned Down

The petition of the Captain to secure the steam scooner crew was turned down. The union claims that the crew is being threatened with job losses if they do not return to work. The union is demanding that the company respect the workers' rights and allow them to return to work without fear of losing their jobs.

Maritime Workers Strike Demands Pay Raise and New Pensions

Although the seamen strike is still ongoing, the demands of the seamen are clear. They are demanding a pay raise and new pensions. The union is stating that the company is not willing to negotiate in good faith and is trying to break the strike by offering lower wages and poorer working conditions.

Pickets' Personal Lines Await Reply

The pickets' personal lines are awaiting a reply. The union is demanding that the company respect the workers' rights and allow them to return to work without fear of losing their jobs. The company is not willing to negotiate in good faith and is trying to break the strike by offering lower wages and poorer working conditions.

Investigate Marine Spies

The Maritime Commission was investigating the activities of spies in the shipyard. The union is demanding that the company respect the workers' rights and allow them to return to work without fear of losing their jobs. The company is not willing to negotiate in good faith and is trying to break the strike by offering lower wages and poorer working conditions.

竞争力: The employers for the most part were reluctant to even discuss the proposed demands. However, the union leadership was determined to push the issue to a conclusion by seriously getting to work on the formation of a battalion which the Spanish workers have been working under when the up-rising began. The fascists have been working under conditions under which they are not satisfied with the council of the union, the police departments and the I.C. officials. This is particularly true of the Red Cross, which, in its capacity as a neutral agency, has been attempting to stop the strike. The fascists have been trying to organize the strikers and searchBarTextArea(rawText). The situation is somewhat similar, therefore, to that which prevails in the United States, where the Red Cross is also being used in the same capacity. The Spanish workers, however, are in a much better position than their American counterparts, as they have been able to organize a strong union movement which has been able to resist the fascist onslaught.

The defense organized against attacks on labor leaders is receiving increasing support from the working class. The German crew who struck the ship in Port Arthur last week is one example of this. The crew, numbering about one hundred, refused to work on the ship when the owners tried to force them to do so. The owners immediately arrested the crew and charged them with mutiny. However, the crew was quickly released after a protest by the union and the support of the working class.

The German crew's stand has been an inspiration to other workers throughout the world. Their courage and determination in standing up to the fascist authorities have shown that it is possible for workers to defend their rights and resist oppression. The German crew's action has served as an example to other workers who are facing similar challenges.

The struggle for workers' rights and against fascism is ongoing. The support of the working class is crucial in this struggle. The German crew's stand is a reminder of the power of solidarity and the importance of unity in the fight against fascism and for workers' rights.

The surprising but not unexpected wave of support without the usual controls to the C.I.O. is quickly being replaced with serious misgivings. The reasons for Green's misapprehensions are plain. We, emphatically, are opposed to the C.I.O. and to its leaders. They are self-admitted in their relations with the employees. Textile, food, tobacco, rubber, steel, and coal mass production industries are being organized for the right time into unions belonging to or receiving the support of the C.I.O. And within the craft unions dominated by old guard reactionary supporters of Green, the membership is rapidly growing, in defiance of opposition to the removal of the C.I.O. unions.

Newspapers address themselves to the C.I.O. as follows: "I ask them to recognize the principles of democracy." The C.I.O. is a one-party organization. It is impossible to play the game. It is intended to smother and confuse the elements of democracy and unity to his own "alleged" supporters re-

TOLEDO STRIKE IS THREATENED

Owners Wriggle Out Of Promised Inducements

TODAY an owner representative at a meeting of the Toledo maritime workers said that the employers' offer of "improved conditions" in the matter of time off and other fringe benefits, which was announced in the course of the strike action, has now been thrown overboard.

According to the present attitude of the employers, the workers may have to return to work next week without any such promises being carried into effect.

To-day's efforts were aimed at securing an agreement with the unions to put the strikes out of the way. The employers are not inclined to make concessions now, as they feel that the workers are not willing to accept their terms.

The workers, on the other hand, are determined to continue their struggle until they get what they want. They have already demonstrated their determination to fight for their rights, and they will not be easily defeated.

Garment Union Opposes Court

Appropiates Funds For Political Drive

WASHINGTON, D.C. (C I L.)—The National Garment Union has filed with the War Labor Board an objection to the receipt of a federal court order appropriating $3,000 to the War Labor Board.

The union's objection is based on the ground that the grant of funds is unauthorized by law.

The union further alleges that the grant of funds is a violation of the War Labor Board's authority.

The union also states that the grant of funds is a violation of the War Labor Board's own regulations.

The union has requested that the grant of funds be rescinded and that the War Labor Board be instructed to act in accordance with the law.

Toledo's Strike Begins

Workers Demand Better Conditions

The Toledo maritime workers have begun their strike for better working conditions.

The workers demand an increase in wages, a reduction in hours, and an improvement in living conditions.

The employers refuse to meet the workers' demands, and the strike is expected to continue.

The workers are determined to fight for their rights, and they will not be easily defeated.

The employers are determined to break the workers' strike, and they will not be easily defeated.

The strike is expected to continue for several months, and the workers are determined to fight for their rights.
