S.F. Workers Set New Record For Solidarity

Labor Day Marchers Demonstrate Power As Strength Grows

The heat of marchers fust spilled SOLIDARITY in the form of a relentless tide of men and women in review in the greatest Labor Day parade in San Francisco history. The city's buildings, Candlestick Park, the Muni Transit service, and the San Francisco Street Railway were brought to a standstill. The parade, said to be the largest since World War II, was a demonstration of the strength and solidarity of the working class.

A魚

The marchers, numbering in the tens of thousands, marched from Van Ness Avenue and Market Street to Civic Center Park, where they were addressed by labor leaders and politicians. The parade was sponsored by the San Francisco Labor Council, which represents the interests of workers in the city.

The parade was a celebration of the working class and its achievements. It was a demonstration of the power of the working class and its ability to organize and fight for its rights.

The parade was a major event in the history of San Francisco and the labor movement. It was a testament to the strength and solidarity of the working class.

Dear Sir:

This is to inform you that the Seamen’s Union of the Pacific, District 4-38, by a majority vote of the delegates present, has declared a strike against the American Export Lines on all the vessels of that Line. This statement is not made because of the conditions in this port, but because of the general conditions of the maritime railway, and the unrest throughout the maritime railway, and the unrest throughout the whole maritime railway.

We wish to express our appreciation of your work for the General Strike in this port, and the assistance you have rendered us.

Sincerely yours,

Chairman of the Union
Seamen’s Union of the Pacific

AN APPEAL FROM R. C. JOHNSON

To the members of the Federation:

As the publication of the Federation paper is the most important function of the Federation, it is incumbent upon every member to see that this function is properly performed.

There is a menace that threatens the existence of the Federation, and that is the fact that the publication of the Federation paper is not receiving the support of the members.

One thing is certain: the Federation cannot step into any activity, and the Federation cannot be a labor organization unless it is supported by the members.

It is hoped that the members will support the Federation in its activities, and will not allow it to be used for any political purposes.

Sincerely yours,

R. C. Johnson

PROTEST FROM MARIPOSA

To the Editor:

We have received a copy of the Voice, and we wish to protest against the publication of the same.

The Voice is a labor newspaper, and it is the duty of the Federation to see that it is properly conducted.

We are unable to understand why the publication of the Voice is being carried on in this manner, and we therefore protest against it.

Sincerely yours,

J. W. Bass

UNFAIR CIGAR

Dear Sir:

This is to express our dissatisfaction with the publication of the Voice of the Federation.

In our opinion, the Voice is a labor newspaper, and it is the duty of the Federation to see that it is properly conducted.

We are unable to understand why the publication of the Voice is being carried on in this manner, and we therefore protest against it.

Sincerely yours,

J. W. Bass
Labor Day Marchers Demonstrate Power
As Strength Grows

San Francisco labor has shown unity and they will maintain and expand it. A strong march was made up by the various organizations of the west coast. C.I.O., A.F. of L. or Independent: all the organizations of the west coast go forward together. Re- presenters were most enthusiastic. The S.U.P. gave large support to the march, and drew up a working agreement with 53 local sections of the S.U.P. They, the longshoremen, had reason to be proud of the march. The war against labor had been had to be won because of the more than seamen on other ships. The wages on the tankers for A.B.'s and file movement' on this coast; the recent attacks by Curran of 13th St., New York City, in their attempt to split the sea- men with their can-shaking tactics. There was no convictions." — Archibald Mac- Fleischer, General Counsel of the S.U.P. By using strike action the S.U.P. have shown this. The picketing and non-union work this ship. The American Bankers' Association is usually cautious about making predictions. A few weeks ago the statement was made that "of the sum total of the present business conditions warrant a general feeling of optimism for the full months." It must be understood that this is not a prediction of an immediate rise in business, but rather as other big business interests.

The banks, however, are not the only people in this country who are grasping at straws and other deliberately optimistic statements to reassure themselves and their like, to feel optimistic. And nothing at all was said about the farmers, who are feeling the pinch of the depression to an extent that has never been known before.

A few years ago, for instance, something was heard about the "end of the world." This, and recent ex-

VOICE of the FEDERATION

Situation On Waterfront Complicated As Teamsters--I.L.A. Deadlock Continues

We defended our men further and told the federals not to let their hands be stayed by any cause of union men.

If you are an executive council member or a loyal federals, give up the present deadlock, and you will see how much better you will be treated by the federals. We will take care of you.

Other unions are following the lead of the federals in this dispute. They are refusing to deliver the goods, and are holding up the entire trade.

Wallace, A. F. L. Varsity

Conclusion

We should support our own union men and not let them be treated unfairly by the federals. We should stand by our men and see that they are treated fairly and justly.

PART TWO

AFTER How many members are in the C.I.O.? The maritime union has grown up and long before its time. "In 1933 this country was dogless." In 1933 there were fewer than four million members in the C.I.O. In 1935 there were seven million. It was estimated that by 1937 there were at least twenty million. In 1937 the C.I.O. was a national organization with a membership of over twenty million, organized and affiliated unions of working men and women throughout the country.
