Labor Leaders Hail Teamster-Longshore Unity On Coast

Voice of the Federation

“An Injury To One Is An Injury To All”

Statement by Bruce Hannon

Secretary, Maritime Federation of the Pacific

The position of the Maritime Federation on the question of labor union representation in the United States is clear and uncompromising. We have always maintained that the right of workers to form and belong to labor unions is a fundamental principle of American democracy. We have consistently opposed the efforts of those who seek to undermine the strength of labor unions and to weaken the bargaining power of workers.

We are proud to have been at the forefront of the movement to organize the maritime industries in the United States. We have worked tirelessly to bring about a new era of worker empowerment and to ensure that the rights of workers are respected and protected.

We are confident that our efforts will continue to bear fruit, and we are determined to ensure that the workers of the maritime industries in the United States have a voice in their workplaces.

A Message to the Rank and File of the MFOWW

Dear Sirs and Brothers:

I am writing to the officials of the MFOWW to ask that the meetings be continued. If the meetings are suspended, we will lose the support of the members. We need to meet to discuss the issues that are affecting our lives.

AN OPEN LETTER TO S. S. MARISOPA ENGINE DEPT.

To the Brothers and Sisters of the S. S. Marisopa Engine Department:

I write to you today to express my concerns about the recent developments. The management seems to be ignoring the wishes of the workers, and this cannot continue. We must stand together and demand better conditions.

Yours sincerely,

Autonomy in Unions

Much is heard concerning autonomy in unions. To many, this appears as an unattainable goal. However, with the right actions and decisions, autonomy can be achieved.

Yours truly,

AFL and immediately locked them out. In order to effect a settlement of this dispute, the company approached the \( \text{CIO \ locals} \) of the Sub-District Council of the I.B.E.W. in Seattle last Friday and made a brief report, promising to submit a complete written report for the consideration of their union board.

The IBIT still operates under the \( \text{CIO \ locals} \) contracts, and it is understood that Harper Knowles, Larry Kesson and Robbins drug store, is the man who imported the company's \( \text{CIO \ local} \) for seamen and under which the company's \( \text{CIO \ local} \) members are now being picketed.

The ordinance calls for all picketing to cease and for all union members to discontinue all picketing and other forms of coercion or intimidation, and for the union members to return to their regular employment.

It is understood that Harper Knowles, Larry Kesson and Robbins have been imported for their \( \text{CIO \ local} \) by the company and that they are about to be imported by the company for their \( \text{CIO \ local} \).
Discriminatory Shipping

The Maritime Unions are concentrating on the elimination of discriminatory shipping practices. They are seeking to prevent anti-union companies from obtaining special rates. The situation is serious, and immediate action is necessary. The Maritime Unions' efforts are supported by a majority of the nation's shippers, but they have been met with resistance from some who seek to exclude union members from their business. The Maritime Unions are determined to ensure that all workers are treated equally.

Political Argument

Recent developments in political affairs have raised serious questions about the future of the progressive movement. The recent election of conservatives to key positions in the government has raised concerns about the direction of the country. The Maritime Unions are committed to supporting the progressive agenda and will continue to work for policies that benefit all workers.

International Bids
For AFL-CIO Unity

Edward Flore, president of the AFL-CIO, is calling for unity among the labor unions. He believes that只有联合起来，我们才能实现我们的目标。工人们应该团结起来，为了更好的未来而努力。
Labor Unity must be achieved... that was the statement of Bruce Hanson, Secretary of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific, this week as he heralded the unity found in the fisheries between Seattle and Portland. Because, he said, a file member of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific recognizes this as the burning issue of the day.

No longer can brother be pitted against brother by foes intent upon gaining only power for themselves at the expense of the working man. This war has been fought by the rank and file who paid in blood and sufferings.

Today no one realizes more than does the Maritime Federation, which has within its folds both AFL and CIO, how difficult it is to work harder to see that unity among the workers is achieved.

We have seen during the elections the completeness of unity between the workers of the California waterfront, which has been a well-mannered settlement up by the employers by means of a wage vote and an agreement that would be binding on all concerned.

In Oregon where labor had not achieved a very great deal in its efforts to work with all other maritime workers, through the ballot, Proposition 101, the organization, the Associated Firms, the Industrial Association and the Chamber of Commerce groups, united. Through this action of the study they were able from now on to fight for the rights of all fishermen for the protection of their common interests. By this action they recognize that labor unity and the suppression of selling out are essential for the fulfillment of their aims and the protection of all. "An Injury to One Is an Injury to All!"

American, N. P. Presbyterian.

A greater opportunity for a labor movement than is at present available in the state has been created by the movement of the fleet into San Francisco harbor.

This was brought about by the action of the General Strike of 1934, which was of such a nature that it created a great deal of unrest in the minds of men and became a powerful force in the work of organizing fishermen.

The opportunity was seized by the International Longshoremen's Union, which made a tremendous drive to organize fishermen by means of a great strike and a mass meeting of fishermen under the leadership of I.T.T.

The opportunity also means that the rank and file of fishermen must be organized in order to build a strong labor movement.

They also say, once everyone have been saved, the possibilities for a labor movement in the state are unlimited.

There wouldn't be any businesses that would be affected by the actions of the fishermen. If the fishermen's movement is strong enough to do the work in their own way, they would be much better off.

However, the strike has made the situation of the fishermen even more difficult, both materially and in the work of organizing fishermen.

The International Longshoremen's Union has said that they will not go through the same thing again, that they will fight for the rights of fishermen and workers, and they are prepared to fight for their rights.

The I.T.T. strike is a lesson to all fishermen, that they must be organized to fight for the rights of fishermen and workers.

They say, if everyone have been saved, the possibilities for a labor movement are unlimited.

Labor Rights in Latin America

By Ralph Emerson
Maritime Legislative

The most recent and important labor legislation in Latin America has been in the area of agrarian reform. This is a region in which the relation of division of the land is a matter of great importance. The agrarian reform movement has been vigorous in many countries, and the labor movement has been active in supporting it.

In the area of labor legislation, the most significant events have been the passage of laws providing for the establishment of labor courts, the establishment of minimum wages, and the establishment of collective bargaining rights. These laws have been passed in a number of countries, including Mexico, Cuba, and Peru.

In addition to these laws, there have been a number of important labor disputes and strikes. For example, in Peru, the workers of the Anaconda Copper Company went on strike in 1920, and in Cuba, the workers of the United Mine Workers went on strike in 1921.

These labor rights are significant because they are the result of the efforts of labor organize...
Hunt Expelled for Disruptive Role

The Central Labor Bodies of the West Coast, at their last meeting, had as their recommendation of the trial committee, the expulsion of Brother Hunt from the membership of the AFL. The trial committee's action is based on charges brought against Hunt by F. G. Fetzer, J. Sneddon, C. R. French, R. J. Kroeger, R. Aguirre, P. Benson, and T. S. Rees.

QUESTIONS ASKED

1. "Was your knowledge of Brother Hunt's experience with John Fougerouse?"
2. "Did you refuse to accept the motion of suspension?"
3. "Did you refuse to accept the motion of suspension by the branch?"
4. "Did you refuse to accept the motion of suspension?"
5. "Did you refuse to accept the motion of suspension?"

HUNT'S SIDE

Hunt was provided with twenty minutes to present his case. He refused to accept the motion of suspension, claiming that the Branch has no right to suspend him directly from the trial committee's suspension.

HUNT'S TESTIMONY

Hunt said that he was not aware of Brother Fougerouse, and that he had been on the floor for three weeks ago on an old charge which was brought against him.

BURKE'S CHARGES

Burke's charges were that Hunt had refused to recognize the Branch, thereby preventing the Branch from carrying out the instructions of the trial committee. Hunt was found guilty as charged and sentenced to the suspension of that Branch.

COMMITTEE'S REPORT

The final motion to accept the statement was made to him by the Secretary of the AFL, thereby preventing the Branch from carrying out the instructions of the trial committee.
