Cooks, Longshoremen, Firemen, Demand Better Agreements

VOICE OF THE FEDERATION

An Injury to One Is An Injury to All

SAN FRANCISCO—Three maritime unions today had voted overwhelmingly to open their agreements while two other organizations were considering the possibility of doing so.

The Marine Cooks and Stewards Association conducted a secret ballot yesterday on the question of opening its agreements. The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union and the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association took the same action.

But with the two agreements, the withdrawal of some services will also mean the introduction of a new set of services. The three agreements that have already opened their agreements have a number of changes that will be reflected in the new agreements.

A ballot has also been taken in the case of the two agreements, but the results have not been released. The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union has not yet voted on its proposal to open its agreements, while the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association has already voted in favor of opening its agreements.

IUW SEeks Agreement Improvement

SAN FRANCISCO — The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union this week informed the waterfront Employers Council of their offer to renew the existing longshoremen's agreement, which was signed in 1922.

Following a brief discussion by the council, the employers accepted the IUW's offer and the council will now proceed to work out the terms of a new agreement.

The IUW has not yet voted on its proposal to open its agreements, while the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association has already voted in favor of opening its agreements.

IBU STRIKES SEATTLE FERRIES EMPLOYEES REFUSE CONCESSIONS

SEA TLE — The Inland Boatmen's Union took a secret ballot on a proposal to renew the existing longshoremen's agreement between the union and the Puget Sound Steamship Operators' Association. The ballot was taken on Sunday morning, July 17, 1938, and the results were kept secret until Tuesday morning, July 19, 1938.

The Inland Boatmen's Union has been in dispute with the Puget Sound Steamship Operators' Association over the renewal of the longshoremen's agreement for several weeks. The union has been demanding a new agreement that would provide for a number of improvements, including a higher minimum wage, better working conditions, and more time off for members.

The union has also been seeking to renew its agreements with the Astoria and Puget Sound Ferries Company, which operates the ferries between Seattle and Portland, Oregon.

"Lock-Out Employer Counterpart To Union Strategy"... Roth, Is This A Threat Or An Warning?

SAN FRANCISCO—With tongue in both cheeks, Little Almond Roth, formerly head of the Salvation Army, and now head of the San Francisco Employers' Council, was introduced to the membership of the Council's membership here, July 26. Roth was lauded as a pioneer in non-unionism by the San Francisco Employers' Council. He is described as a well organized and effective program which is being carried on by one man.

The event is part of a series of meetings throughout the United States, and the purpose of the meetings is to bring about a solution to labor relations problems which are now plaguing the country.

Roth described the history of the Salvation Army and how it came to be a powerful organization in the fight against strikes and labor strikes. He said that the Salvation Army has been active for over 100 years and has been successful in preventing strikes and labor strikes by providing aid to workers who are in need.

The meeting was attended by many local and national union leaders who praised Roth for his work in the fight against strikes and labor strikes. They expressed their appreciation of the work that the Salvation Army has done and the way it has helped to keep the country peaceful.

Monday started off fairly quickly, with only six jobs on the board, the two only to amount to anything before 10 a.m. The Palmetto ran both of her boats, and the Mexican and the Manhattan took a wiper apiece, and the脂肪一 got a narrow hook. The bankers failed to sell the life insurance.

THE bally hoo committee, upon voting the vote on opening the bally hoo season, found in favor of the fat one. The Italian and the Manhattan took a wiper apiece, and the fat one got a narrow hook. The bankers failed to sell the life insurance.

ALBANCE and the Coast catcher took a wiper apiece, and the fat one got a narrow hook. The bankers failed to sell the life insurance.

This week brings two bills to the Pacific Coast. The first is the San Francisco bill, which has recently been introduced in Congress by Representative Huia, and the second is the Washington bill, which has recently been introduced in the State Legislature by Representative Huia. The bills are similar in nature and are designed to protect the interests of fishermen and seamen.

The San Francisco bill was introduced by Representative Huia and is designed to protect the interests of fishermen and seamen. The bill provides for the establishment of a commission to regulate the activities of fishing vessels and to protect the interests of fishermen.
