Unemployed ILWU Men To Get Aid

SAN FRANCISCO.—When the employers were invited to come to the club in the depths of the strike, the official members of the union demanded that the strike be called off. It was then decided to call off the strike and a new contract was negotiated.

Through their efforts, deputies of the Employment Security Commission were sent to the clubs to negotiate the settlement. The members of the commission returned to the club in their letter to the members. When the matter appeared to be in an advanced stage, the club was notified that the negotiations had been concluded. In conclusion, the club members were told that the strike be called off and that the club members were returned to work.

The strike in the club members was called off on December 14, 1936.

Unions Seek Uniform Agreement

PORTLAND.—Representatives of the unions and the Pacific Coast Steamship Association met in conference on Tuesday to consider a new agreement between the parties. The conference was split up into two sessions, one of which was at 7 p.m., the other at 10 p.m. The conference was attended by the following unions: (Continued on Page 4)

The present crisis is attributed to the strike of the Ship Clerk's Union in San Francisco on Tuesday afternoon.

The contract applies to the grain waterfront and we believe we can prove to anyone's satisfaction that they are calling for a showdown on the issue.

We challenge this statement. The shipowners run the waterfront and we believe we can prove to anyone's satisfaction that they are calling for a showdown on the issue.

So long as the strike continues, it is the right to respect any and all bona fide picket lines.

The contract was signed by the shipowners and the waterfront employers with the intention of bringing about a speedy settlement of the dispute.

ILWU Wins in Northwest

PORTLAND—Pacific Northwest warehousemen have been joined by the International Longshoremen's Association, which has filed a complaint against the employers' association, alleging that the employers have violated the union's right to organize and bargain collectively.

The contract was signed by the shipowners and the waterfront employers with the intention of bringing about a speedy settlement of the dispute.

Rossi's Record: The Story the 'Chronicle' Killed

The following column, written by Arthur Kollock, was distributed to the press in San Francisco, Chronicle, was ran in 1951. (Only) early edition of Monday, October 31, 1951. After that it was pulled out of the paper and was never seen in the Chronicle.

The new agreement will cover a three-year period.

By ARTHUR KOLLOCK

Stevie Rossi had a grand renown in his mayor's office in Portland. He was considered the leading lawyer in the club, and his name was known by everyone.

"Keep it away from the union," he said. "I cannot have a labor strike in the city."

The next day, he was back in the courtroom.

"Keep it away from the union," he said. "I cannot have a labor strike in the city."

Deliberate Attempt to Stampede Union

Mrs. Ardelle Mounts, Treas.

"San Francisco, with business on the upgrade and prospects bright for the future, it is not surpising that the labor unrest of the present day is of a more serious nature than in the past. It is not the type of labor unrest that is sweeping the nation, but rather the type that is being used by the communistic gospel of labor unrest and paralysis of business.

preventive and compulsory police power to stop the strike and put on the shipowners."

One of the workers was charged with the crime while officially on duty.

The new wage scales are the result of years of hard bargaining and fighting between the United States Maritime Commission and the shipowners. Hiring, as in previous agreements, is still on the basis of a wage scale of $62.50 to $137.50 in the stewards grade.

The Hearst Examiner carried a special report on the situation.

The rule is to apply immediately to the shipowners for these reasons:

The Board of Directors of the ILWU ordered the vote on the Strike Ballot which is scheduled to be held on Friday, December 12th, as soon as possible.

HITS AT DIES

Seattle—The Tulsa Indians at the reservation near Mount Washburn, Nov. 27th struck a left-handed blow at the white man's way of life.

The Indians, long considered nonentities by the Federal Government, were determined to have the last word. Not for the first time in their history had their grievances been ignored.

"We want our land returned," they shouted, "and we want our rights acknowledged."

The strike was a foregone conclusion, as the Indians had been told by the government that their demands would not be met.

Red Men Won't Go For US in War

ILA—The proposal of the United States Government to use the services of the Indian Nations in the war against Germany has been received with universal indignation by the Red Men of America.

"We will not fight for a country that treats us as we have been treated," they shouted. "We will fight for our own freedom and not for the freedom of others."

Lawn Mower Barons Gyp The Public

SEATTLE—The businessmen who have been charging excessive prices for lawn mowing services in this city have been caught red-handed by the city inspector.

"We will not stand for this," said the inspector. "They are making money at the expense of the public."

Employers Also Aim At Democracy

The TELHRGAH, a federation of American workers' organizations, has criticized some of the tactics used by employers in their attempts to organize workers. The TELHRGAH has accused some employers of using tactics such as threats and promises of higher wages to lure workers into joining their unions. The federation has also accused employers of attempting to divide workers by offering different contracts to different groups of workers.

The TELHRGAH has called on workers to resist these tactics and to remain united in their efforts to organize. The federation has also called on workers to support each other in their organizing efforts.

West Coast Unions a Force for Unity, NMU Organizer Tells Membership

The NMU organizer told the members of the federation that the West Coast unions have been a force for unity and strength in the maritime industry. The organizer said that the union has been working to bring all workers on both coasts together and to create a unified front for workers' rights.

The organizer also said that the union has been working to create a stronger and more unified federation. The organizer said that the union has been working to bring all workers together and to create a stronger and more unified federation.
The Sordid Dies
He Would Destroy Civil Rights, Lead Us To War

Editor, "Voice of the Federation":

Philosophy of Martin Dies is an interesting theme — that was the opinion of Brother Miller, your correspondent, and I think the theme might be of interest to you. But in the context of the question, I think the time has come for us to consider the question of the Sordid Dies' philosophy in its entirety.

The Sordid Dies was a notorious figure in American politics, known for his staunch anti-communist and anti-labor views. He held various positions in politics, including as a member of the House of Representatives. His actions and speeches were often aimed at undermining labor rights and civil liberties. His philosophy was characterized by a strong emphasis on national security and his belief in the need for a strong, centralized government to maintain order and prosperity.
